ABOUT CERTIFICATION

Certification is a process to validate, based upon predetermined standards, a professional’s knowledge for safe and effective practice in a specialty or defined subspecialty. The National Certification Corporation (NCC) believes that what makes a credentialed health care provider different is the willingness of the individual to be accountable for his/her knowledge and to take the risk of undergoing a third-party review of their knowledge. Professionals, who hold an NCC specialty or subspecialty certification, make a difference in the lives of their patients. They are unique professionals who have made the commitment to lifelong learning, patient advocacy and professional practice.

Over 175,000 health care professionals have been certified in Neonatal, Obstetric, Gynecologic and Women’s Health through the National Certification Corporation, demonstrating an ongoing commitment to practice. Core certifications for the registered nurse (RNC) validate to patients, families, peers, employers and the public, the RN’s specialty knowledge of nursing care of the hospitalized patient. Core certifications for the Advanced Practice Registered Nurse validates readiness to provide core knowledge-based care to critically ill neonates (NNP-BC) or to women with needs in the Obstetric, Gynecologic and Primary Care areas (WHNP-BC). Subspecialty certifications (C-EFM®, C-NPT®, C-NNIC, C-ONQS, and C-ELBW) validate the special knowledge and experience required in these focused areas of specialty practice.

GENERAL POLICIES

How Exams are Scored

NCC examinations are criterion referenced. This means the passing score is based on predetermined criteria. The passing score is established by the NCC Board of Directors.

NCC utilizes the item response theory of psychometrics for the analysis of its examinations. Item Response Theory (Rasch analysis) is the study of tests and item scores based on assumptions concerning the mathematical relationship between abilities and item responses. Each test item has a difficulty and ability level. The higher the difficulty of an item, the greater the ability score one achieves. Pass/fail is determined based on the number of questions answered correctly. As a question is answered correctly, the ability score is increased and it decreases when a question is answered incorrectly. The difficulty of the examination determines the actual number of questions that must be answered correctly in order to achieve the passing ability level.

Because more than one form of the examination is given, a process called equating is used. This procedure converts all results to a common scale. Someone who takes a slightly more difficult form of the examination will need to answer fewer questions correctly than someone who takes a slightly easier form of the examination.

Test result reports will identify pass/fail status and give feedback on the various content areas of the exam in the form of word descriptors: very weak, weak, average, strong, very strong. Pass/fail rates for previous NCC exams can be viewed on the NCC website, NCCwebsite.org.
GENERAL POLICIES

ADA and Nondiscrimination Policies

It is the policy of NCC that no individual will be excluded from the examinations as a result of age, sex, race, religion, national origin, ethnicity, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, military status or gender identity.

Any requests for special testing accommodations pursuant to the Americans with Disabilities Act must be made in writing and submitted with the application and documentation forms. The special request form can be downloaded from the NCC website. Upon receipt of such requests for special accommodations, NCC will contact the applicant. Such requests must be signed by a clinician, physician, or other qualified specialist with training and experience appropriate to diagnose and treat the specified disability.

Appeals Procedure

Any request to waive any policy of the NCC Board of Directors relative to eligibility, administration, examination content issues, or certification maintenance must be received in writing within 60 days of the dispute. All requests should be sent to the attention of the NCC president at nccpresident@nccnet.org. The correspondence should contain a detailed account as to why the NCC policy should be waived or the candidate’s status should be changed. Such requests are referred to the NCC Policy Review Committee of the Board of Directors. All decisions will be provided in writing. Cases not resolved by the Policy Review Committee will be referred to the full Board of Directors.

All policies and procedures are subject to change without notice.
GENERAL POLICIES

Maintaining Your Certification

The NCC Maintenance Program requires professionals to maintain their certification every three years. The purpose of the maintenance program is to insure that each certified individual maintains their specialty knowledge competencies over time through continuing education.

Those maintaining certification must earn continuing education in the specified specialty area. Each certified professional is required to complete a maintenance application and pay a maintenance fee in addition to documentation of the appropriate continuing education activities. Individuals who allow their certification to lapse can regain their status only through re-examination. If that occurs, the then current examination eligibility criteria will need to be met.

NCC randomly audits maintenance applications. If you are chosen for audit you will be required to upload an electronic CE certificate and a description of the CE earned. These records should be maintained during each maintenance cycle until your maintenance application has been approved.

Verification of Your Certification

A third party verification of the newly held certification must be processed by request through the NCC website. Click on Request a Verification on the home page. A verification cannot be requested until official results have been received from NCC in writing. NCC cannot verify certification until after it is achieved.

There is a $30 charge for each request. Verifications are sent instantaneously via email to the designated party. Verifications include original date of certification, maintenance due date, certification specialty and NCC President’s signature and the NCC corporate seal. An email address is needed to use the process. Where available, NCC has listed on the website email addresses of the state boards of nursing who have provided them.

ABOUT NCC

The National Certification Corporation (NCC) is a not for profit organization that provides a national certification program for nurses, physicians, and other licensed health care professionals. Certification is awarded to nurses and advanced practice nurses in the obstetric, gynecologic, and neonatal specialties. Multidisciplinary subspecialty certifications are awarded for Electronic Fetal Monitoring, Neonatal Pediatric Transport, Obstetric and Neonatal Quality and Safety, Care of the Extremely Low Birth Weight Neonate, and Neonatal Neuro-Intensive Care.

Since its inception in 1975, NCC has awarded certifications to more than 175,000 licensed health care professionals.

NCC’S PHILOSOPHY OF CERTIFICATION

Certification is an evaluative process that provides health care professionals in women’s health, obstetric, gynecologic, and neonatal specialties the opportunity to demonstrate publicly what they know and to be recognized for the knowledge they possess. As a voluntary process, the NCC certification and subspecialty examinations are designed to test for special knowledge.

NCC encourages individuals to seek out information about how certification relates to state licensure requirements, program accreditation of the educational institutions attended, the educational and practice standards of the relevant national specialty organizations and employment expectations in their community. Contact with state boards of licensure, universities and colleges, professional specialty organizations and individual employers for specific requirements is highly recommended.

NCCA & ABSNC Accreditation

NCC nurse and subspecialty certification programs are accredited by the National Commission for Certifying Agencies (NCCA).

NCC nurse practitioner certification programs are accredited by both the Accreditation Board for Specialty Nursing Certification (ABSNC) and the National Commission for Certifying Agencies (NCCA).
Institutional Certification Program (ICP)

In 2004, NCC launched the Institutional Certification Program which allowed institutions to sponsor NCC certification and subspecialty exam testing at their own institutions. ICP provides institutions flexibility in testing times. If the institution has between 25 and 100 participants, the institution can select up to a 21-day period during which time the testing will occur. If a test site has over 100 participants, fee discounts are also offered. All NCC core and subspecialty examinations can be used to qualify for the minimum participation.

Under the plan, an institution designates a test coordinator who serves as the main contact person for NCC. The program is operated under a written contract between NCC and the individual hospital or hospital system. Individuals CANNOT participate in the program on their own. There must be a sponsoring institution. For more information about ICP, visit the NCC website or email Betty Sobala, ICP coordinator at bsobala@nccnet.org.

Rules for those applicants taking the test under ICP which is sponsored by an employer or other organization may be different than what is listed in this catalog. A memo of understanding is signed by the applicant taking an NCC exam under these special circumstances that outlines specific policies to which each individual applicant is subject.
